The Raven

Back into the chamber turning,
Within me burning,
Soon again I heard a tapping
Louder than before.

"Surely that is some one
Coming at my window late,
Let me see, then, what there is
Of this mystery explore —
Let my heart be still a moor,
Mystery explore; —
'Tis the wind and nothing more!

Ah, distinctly I remember it
In the bleak December,
And each separate dying ember
Ghosts upon the floor.

Eagerly I wished the morrow;
— vainly I had sought to borrow
From my books surcease of sorrow —
Sorrow for the lost Lenore —
For the rare and radiant maiden Whose name Lenore was — Surnameless here in the grave,

And the silken, sad, uncertain
Furtive sound they made as they Kept their beating hearts in Fancy like smiling,
In despair
Countenance it word thy crest be said, "art
